

Psalm 78 Discussion

1. What are some barriers to passing along the faith to the next generation?
2. Why must the Scriptures be primary in terms of what we teach to the next generation?
3. Why did the psalm writer encourage God's people to tell their children of God's faithfulness in the past? (78:1–8)
4. How does this psalm serve as a warning to God's people? (78:1–72)
5. Why are we tempted to ignore God when things are going well?
6. What's wrong with seeking the Lord only when we need His help?
7. How does the telling of the stories of the Bible (including the overarching story of redemption) help fight against our natural, self-centered tendencies?
8. Respond to a parent who says, "It's the church's job to teach my child the gospel."
9. What are some specific ways churches and families can be intentional about passing along the faith to the next generation?
